OPPORTUNITIES

1. CBHS is accepting funding applications: Proposals must be submitted by any Wake Forest University faculty member who is a member of the Center for Bioethics, Health & Society. Center membership is open to all Wake Forest University faculty. Faculty may collaborate with students or community members, and may request up to $8,000.00 for pilot research, course development, and major events. Proposals relating to the Center Theme, “Biomedical Technology: Private Choices, Public Good,” will receive higher priority (see theme description). Proposals for smaller activities and single events, with requests up to $1,000.00, may be accepted on a rolling basis at any time subject to funding availability. For more information, see the CBHS Funding Application 2010 on the Center’s website: <http://bioethics.wfu.edu/initiatives-opportunities/current-opportunities/>
2. APRIL 12-14, CHAPEL HILL, NC
Ethical, Legal & Social Implications (ELSI) Research Program, Congress 2011: “Exploring the ELSI Universe”. Registration and abstract submission are now open. The ELSI Congress, hosted by the Center for Genomics and Society at UNC-Chapel Hill, will showcase empirical research, conceptual and normative scholarship, and policy contributions from all aspects of the Human Genome Project. All with any interest in these areas are invited to attend, and to submit abstracts for presentation. Please take advantage of this local conference of international stature. More details can be found at: <http://tinyurl.com/ELSI2011>.

3. SEPTEMBER 22-24:

Junior Scholars in Bioethics Workshop, Wake Forest University
– Applications now being accepted.

This new initiative gives junior (untenured) faculty working in bioethics an opportunity to present works-in-progress to scholars in bioethics and related fields. Commentators will provide constructive feedback to presenters with the goal of fostering scholarship in bioethics. The expectation is that the workshop will assist scholars in revising papers prior to submitting them for publication. The deadline for applications is April 1, 2011. For more information, please see the Junior Scholars in Bioethics Workshop at:
